Background Information:

Peckham Platform is a cultural organisation with a civic duty. Our vision is of a more connected society and we are dedicated to creating positive change through meaningful social art, delivering projects where local communities and artists work together at each stage to provide a programme that is uniquely responsive and relevant to place. Since 2010, we have fostered new collaborations between our local communities and prominent social artists; to co-produce bold new artworks that create open platforms for civic enquiry.

In 2023, we will launch our new venue on Peckham Square, working in partnership with London Borough of Southwark. Our new home will be at the heart of an ambitious new vision for Peckham Platform. With five times our previous footprint and new facilities; we will become a welcoming centre for creative civic engagement and community participation. With new gallery spaces, learning facilities, and a dedicated Social Art Resource we will expand our activities, doubling our audiences, the number of participation opportunities we offer, and increasing our ability to create transformational artistic opportunities for communities facing the greatest need in Peckham and beyond.

Peckham Platform

We operate in Peckham, with 71% BAME* local residents and over 40% young people - one of the highest ratios in the country. Peckham is changing rapidly, with a borough-led strategy for regeneration providing significant investment in the area in recent years and new businesses and communities moving to Peckham. Within this, a cultural scene is burgeoning, with outstanding cultural spaces and innovative creative industries emerging.

Inequality is growing, existing communities are being displaced and marginalised, and the benefit of new investment is often being felt only by a narrow cross-section of residents. Lower overall deprivation masks the continuing challenges facing Peckham, which is historically one of the most deprived areas in the country; 84% of the population live in the most economically challenged quintile nationally; 34% of children live in low income households; unemployment is at 15%; and it is ranked in the 12% highest crime spots in England. The situation has become critical in the context of sweeping cuts to public services decimating Peckham's support structures.

Operating within this complex landscape of urban change, Peckham Platform is committed to addressing social inequalities, promoting cultural democracy, and initiating long-term relationships with the arts across communities of need. Young people are at the heart of this process, as collaborators and audiences. Through our learning programmes, we use creative practice to explore alternative pedagogies that place young people at the centre of their educational development.

Our mission is more important than ever as we face a national crisis that spans social, environmental, economic, political and cultural fields. In this challenging context, the social value of art is being given more attention. Cultural organisations are increasingly experimenting with delivering more socially relevant work and look to Peckham Platform as a model of best practice. Our new venue is essential to helping us to expand our work to meet the needs of our community and the sector.

We believe that Peckham's public spaces can be reclaimed by residents as welcoming areas to come together; reinvigorated through performances, exhibitions, artistic interventions, and more. Our locality's vibrancy will be celebrated, recognising the diversity of experiences and histories that contribute to Peckham's unique identity, equally.

BAME is a problematic term and we agree with its many critics within the sector and beyond. We use this term here as a reminder that this term remains in use in "official" data such as the census.

Artistic Programme

Our artistic programme strives to be both relevant and supportive to artists and the communities with whom we work. Reflecting our values and concerns as a cultural organisation with a civic duty. We are committed to community-led co-commissioning and creating a genuinely collaborative process.

For each commission, we focus our work on engaging communities that are at risk of being marginalized in the cultural mainstream, platforming groups to explore the issues that arise with them. In the past, this has amplified the voices of womens' youth services, disability, mental health, and substance abuse recovery groups. We maintain a joint decision-making process with communities right through to the exhibition, installation or event.

Our current co-commissioning programme includes a three-year project funded by Catalouse Gulbenkian Foundation, Esmée Fairbairn and Big Lottery titled Create Civic Change. A cross-generational, cross-cultural project capturing our community's response to a rapidly changing Peckham.

Learning Programme

Our work with young people currently includes Arts Awards and Youth Platform, a creative in-house initiative that develops agency in young people facing multiple factors of disadvantage in Peckham. Funded by Charterhouse Southwark and the Portal Trust, in the last 3 years, we have nurtured an effective model of progressive participation, from often first out of school arts engagement, to becoming creative leaders with the skills and confidence to pursue pathways in the creative sectors. This work will be central to our organisational growth moving forwards. The learning programme is currently going through a development process to increase our offer for more people across the ages.

"Peckham Platform has proven itself to be a shining beacon in bringing together artists' practices and community interest to embed contemporary art in a great unfolding programme of productive dialogues in London" Sonia Boyce, MBE, Artist

Accountable to: Head of Learning and Community Engagement, Peckham Platform

Location: Peckham with remote working

Peckham Platform is a creative and educational charity that connects art, people and place. Bringing together local communities with leading artists to co-produce art projects with impact. This is an exciting opportunity for an aspiring producer with interest in culture and/or heritage to support a transformational new project designed by, with, and for Peckham people.

Purpose of Role:

As Summer Co-Producer of Memories for the Future you will support a programme that explores the diverse lived experiences of our elders; 1st generation women who relocated to Peckham during the first, major postcolonial migrations from African and Caribbean diaspora nations before and after their independence.

MftF is a hyperlocal community-led programme that researches and responds to the intangible heritage of the people who shaped Peckham's iconic Rye Lane. Building from community-input, our starting point are Rye Lane's iconic "Aunties", women business leaders whose roles in Peckham exemplify the lived realities of migration into Britain and the experience of rebuilding lives as part of a diaspora. This project works to cherish and learn from these at risk histories which elucidate Britain's complex relationships with the rest of the world, and the foundational influence of these women on the communities living/working on Rye Lane

MftF will identify, record, preserve and share 10 oral histories of Peckham aunties in conversation with younger generations in their families and/or diaspora that tell a multi-dimensional story of: post-colonial commonwealth migration, British community response, diaspora experience, and how Peckham became the diverse area it is today. The outcomes of these conversations will inform learning, family and community programmes and a series of artist commissions, talks and events.

This role supports the delivery of all MftF programme elements. You will be able to develop skills and experience in a range of areas related to programme activities, including but not limited to: public engagement, heritage and archival research, creative production, heritage events curation and delivery, community co-creation, artist and specialist liaison, marketing, fundraising, and administration.
